Xafinity group offering wins Loganair mandate in Scotland

Loganair, the Glasgow based regional commuter airline and the Trustees of the Loganair Pension Scheme have appointed Xafinity Consulting and Xafinity Paymaster to provide pension administration, actuarial, investment and consultancy services.

Xafinity won the mandate (which was previously held by Aon) based on their ability to meet Loganair's objectives to provide cost effective and cohesive pension services.

The open-ended contract will be serviced by Xafinity employees from their Stirling office in Scotland. Jonathan Seed, Director for Xafinity Consulting in Scotland commented on the appointment:

"We're delighted to be appointed by the Trustees of the Loganair Pension Scheme. Xafinity's joined up approach met the Trustees needs and our fixed fee really helps employers in the current environment. We look forward to working with the Trustees to ensure they receive active and innovative advice as their scheme matures."

Jim Adams, Director of Finance of Loganair commented:

"Loganair and the Trustees were looking for a partner who would be able to provide an efficient and joined up service as our closed scheme matures. We were impressed by the comprehensive service Xafinity can offer and their proactive approach. We are now very much looking forward to working with their team in Stirling."
