Xafinity wins Pensions Systems Provider of the Year Award 2010

Xafinity has won the “Pension Systems Provider of the Year 2010” award at the prestigious UK Pension Awards for the fifth time in six years.

Selected by a distinguished panel of industry experts, the award reflects the quality of Xafinity Claybrook's software and approach to working with clients which has led to continued growth through 2009 and 2010.

Xafinity Claybrook helps schemes deliver modern and efficient services to members and trustees through the pension administration platform Compendia. The product set extends to DataSure for data management and SuperVal for actuarial valuation.

Michael Payten, Deputy Managing Director of Xafinity Claybrook, commented:

“We are delighted with this award that reinforces our position as a trusted and reliable provider to schemes of any size in the private and public sector as well as third party administrators. We look forward to continuing to help our clients meet the challenges of today's pensions through innovative and effective software solutions.”

Xafinity Claybrook's pension administration platform, Compendia, is installed in a wide range of schemes including Harsco, Cadbury, Chubb, Lloyds Register, Pension and Benefit Services Limited (PBSL) and the Armed Forces.

SuperVal, used by the Government Actuary's Department, is the most popular actuarial valuation platform in the UK.
