Xafinity Claybrook wins two industry accolades in its 30th year of business

Xafinity Claybrook has further highlighted its position as the UK's leading provider of software and services for pensions administration having been recognised as having the best 'Pensions Administration Software' at the 2008 Pensions and Investment Provider Awards (PIPA).

This follows success at the UK Pensions Awards in the category of 'Pensions Administration System Provider of the Year'. This is the fourth year in a row that Xafinity Claybrook has been successful at the UK Pensions Awards – winning the accolade more times than any other supplier.

This year's submissions focussed on the close relationship between our client base and Compendia's product development and the innovation undertaken to support better information, visibility and choice for Members, Trustees and Employers.

Commenting on the award, Ron Barker, Managing Director of Xafinity Claybrook said:

“As a company we are committed to getting it right for our clients and I am particularly pleased with the recognition that this year's awards brings. Working in pensions is for the long term and these wins reflect the efforts our staff place in understanding where we can most help our clients in meeting the challenges that face them and their members today.”
