

Checking Data? Use DataSure

Free 30 day trial available now

In 2009 the Pensions Regulator identified a series of measures by which schemes can assess the quality of data. Following consultation with the industry, final guidance has been published with no modifications outlined. In a recent statement the regulator commented 'We expect all schemes to have measured their scheme data and we recommend targets for the presence of common data.'

Schemes need to act to address gaps and inaccuracies in data held.

Xafinity Claybrook's DataSure helps schemes achieve this by monitoring and reporting on data quality using a fully automated software solution which:

- runs against pension scheme data
- evaluates overall quality using the Pension Regulator's guidelines for individual data items
- summarises results against requirements into a Word report

To demonstrate the power of DataSure, Xafinity Claybrook is providing a free 30 day trial of the software. The trial software produces a report highlighting how data measures against the Pension Regulator's common data checks using sample member data in Excel format.

Your own scheme specific data may also be loaded into the tool from your administration system to give a free check.

If you would like to take advantage of the trial version, please call 01293 604 028, email enquiries@xafinityclaybrook.com or contact your Account Manager.

In addition to meeting the Pension Regulator's requirements, taking a proactive approach with data can deliver real benefits including:

- Demonstrating good governance
- Improving the accuracy of valuations
- Helping ensure benefits are paid correctly
- Reducing administration costs by allowing increased automation
- Empowering decisions on the future of schemes
